

New Prefuse 73 Album In February

Dec 02, 2005

Story by: Jesseka Kadylak

The ever-prolific Prefuse 73 will release his latest album of glitchtronica, Security Screenings, in February 2006 on Warp. Though fans may have been expecting a B-Sides record to complement 2005's guest-heavy Surrounded By Silence, Security ended up moving in a completely different direction. With the exception of guest spots from Four Tet and TV On The Radio's Babatunde Adebimpe, Prefuse dumps the guest vocalists and collaborators of past releases, returning to the intricate instrumentals that originally snagged listeners. As for all those unreleased collaborations left over from Surrounded By Silence? We don't know, but maybe 'Fuse will up the ante and release a C-Sides record. Don't put it past him... the man is a machine.

Also, if you're in Atlanta this New Years, think about ringing in 2006 with Prefuse and Sound Tribe Sector 9 at the Tabernacle.
