

The Stills Road-Test New Material

Sep 23, 2005

Taking a step back from recording, the Stills plan to test their latest material throughout Canada with a tricky new lineup. Guitarist Greg Paquet recently left the band (with no hard feelings), prompting main songwriter Dave Hamelin to abandon his drum kit for vocal and guitar duties alongside Tim Fletcher. Armed with a new drummer, as well as a new keyboardist (Liam O'Neill, from the previous tour), the Stills are currently touring Canadian colleges with Toronto's Sloan, giving fans a taste of brand new material. The still-untitled follow-up to 2003's Logic Will Break Your Heart will drop in 2006 on Vice Records.
